

The Health Foundation of Central Massachusetts in Worcester has named LEAH BRADLEY, ARTHUR DUBOIS, and MORGAN RUSSELL to its board of directors. With more than 20 years of experience in strategic planning, system change, and program development, Bradley serves as the CEO of Central Massachusetts Housing Alliance in Worcester. She earned her master's degree in social work from the University of Connecticut and her bachelor's degree from Worcester State University. DuBois is a licensed clinical social worker who has assisted individuals with mental health conditions, emotional difficulties, and intellectual and developmental disabilities. He graduated with his master's degree in social work from Rhode Island College and his bachelor's degree from Salem State University. Russell is an attorney who founded her own law firm, focusing her practice on child welfare litigation and real estate transactions with experience in foreclosure defense, housing law, adult guardianship, and conservator cases. She graduated with her law degree from Massachusetts School of Law in Andover and her bachelor's degree from Worcester State University.

LEAH BRADLEY, ARTHUR DUBOIS, and MORGAN RUSSELL